

The American Cash Cow

Some people say that the time for analysis is over. A few even use the clever catch phrase, “we are suffering from a paralysis of analysis”. I’ve always disagreed with that because if you don’t understand the problems, you’re likely to exacerbate them by taking actions in the wrong direction as the Republicans are now set to do. Their game plan is austerity. Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security – all “entitlement” programs need to be cut and/or phased elimination of the programs. Last night however, I learned during a conference call with Idaho Senator Jim Risch that the middle class is targeted as well. Senator Risch said that they were looking at cutting “tax spending” programs such as the home mortgage deduction. Don’t you love the word art: “Tax Spending”? That would be a huge tax increase for the middle class.

I followed the instructions to ask Senator Risch a question. When the moderator came on the line and asked me what my question was, I told him, “I want to ask about our international trade policy and why the Republicans want to inflict more pain on the people who are already experiencing the most pain while not addressing the issue of exporting our jobs and allowing the COMMUNIST China flood our markets with cheap imports putting American businesses out of business”. Son of a gun if he didn’t run out of time before he could take my question.

Have you noticed that none of our politicians ever talk about international trade policy or the United Nations socialist agenda in our communities? The last serious discussion I remember concerning international trade was when Ross Perot ran for President. Perot talked about NAFTA and the big sucking sound south of the border. He was right about the sucking sound. He was wrong about the source. The big suck is coming from Communist China. And now, as our economy is collapsing, our representatives in government are meeting with the Communists to learn how to manage dissent during the transformation to the Communist system. At least I assume that’s what they will be learning from the Communists because our politicians already have down pat the corruption, cronyism and theft. For example, consider that while their solution to health care is to eliminate Medicaid payments for nursing homes and to have seniors pay “free market” rates for health insurance, the U.S. government has plenty of money for a Global Health System.

Mission of the HHS Office of Global Health Affairs

To promote the health of the world’s population by advancing the Secretary’s and the Department of Health and Human Services’ global strategies and partnerships, thus serving the health of the people of the United States.

Director of the Office of Global Health Affairs

Dr. Nils Daulaire, Director,
Office of Global Health Affairs.

In an article titled, "Daily Reports from Lyon, France" (U.N. Climate Change Meetings), by Floy Lilley, J.D. she wrote:

"William Luers, president of the United Nations Association of the United States of America, has authored a strong argument for uniting the U.N. with U.S. interests

"Choosing Engagement", appears in the September/October 2000 issue of Foreign Affairs. Luers calls for assigning policy and budgetary relations with the specialized agencies of the U.N. to their respective U.S. government departments rather than to the broader U.S. State Department. The State Department might view such moves as reductions in its own scope, but funding of U.N. activities could become more assured, since such funding would simply be within each agency annual budget and would not have to be held hostage by any public antagonism against the United Nations.

Luers submits two specific examples. One would be the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) taking on the responsibilities that the U.S. shoulders for the World Health Organization (WHO).

Isn't that exactly what Global Health run by the HHS is... united U.N. and U.S. interests embedded within the internal governmental structure of the American government? That's what I call – and have called for a long time, an administrative coup d'etat. And unless and until we can rid our government of these globalist parasites, we will never have an America to pass on to our children. And should you mistakenly believe that Global Health is just one program that is a humanitarian endeavor, you can start your search for the global agenda here – at the White House website:

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/the-press-office/2010/09/22/fact-sheet-us-global-development-policy>

The White House

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release
September 22, 2010

Fact Sheet: U.S. Global Development Policy

- President Obama's Development Policy and the Global Climate Change Initiative (pdf)
- President Obama's Development Policy and Global Food Security (pdf)
- President Obama's Development Policy and the Global Health Initiative (pdf)

Today, the President signed a Presidential Policy Directive on Global Development, the first of its kind by a U.S. administration. The directive recognizes that development is vital to U.S. national security and is a strategic, economic, and moral imperative for the United States. It calls for the elevation of development as a core pillar of American power and charts a course for development, diplomacy and defense to mutually reinforce and complement one another in an integrated comprehensive approach to national security. It provides clear policy guidance to all U.S. Government agencies and enumerates our core objectives, our operational model, and the modern architecture we need to implement this policy.

This is the real reason why the Congress won't address health care from the cost side. They want to ensure that the parasitic U.S. government and their Health Industry Partners can fund their global health ambitions and they are using American taxpayer and American health care consumer dollars to do it. The high cost of health care for Americans is an indirect subsidy for globalized health care.

Soon they will be doing the same thing with energy. The squeeze play is set up using the fraud of scarcity and global climate change. The increases on your utility bills will be an indirect tax the energy corporations will use to expand their "global footprint". Meaning that they will use the surcharges to build power generation facilities in foreign countries – with you providing the financing through your electric bill.

The transportation tax being discussed – charging you by the mile for every mile driven will undoubtedly become the pool of money for the global transportation system – so you will be paying to build roads in far off places across the global.

This calls for a political cartoon of an emaciated American Cash Cow wearing a ball cap with an American flag on it... and udders with the appearance of parasites all over the body streaming red turning to green paper notes flowing to the global systems buckets. It should replace the eagle as the symbol of our formerly great nation.

Vicky Davis,
May 11, 2011